The Lake Employment Fund ordinance had been passed by the House of Delegates without a dissenting vote. The report, with the ordinance, was at once sent to the Council waiting it in extra session, and then the all received its second reading immediately after the House vote. There are to be no legislative obstacles in the way of the plan offering relief to the unemployed workingmen of St. Louis.

Neither should there be any lack of compiteness in the relief offered. The people of St. Louis, the great popular heart to which the appeal for relief of the unemployed is made, will respond in such a way that this The appeal made is not that of men standing on the city streets soliciting alms. It is the cry of self-respecting men that work be given them, whereby they can eara with honest labor the money they need for bread. These men crowded into the Post-DISPATCH office all day yesterday registering their names. Not one of them asked for charity; every one of them asked for work. They want employment in helping to make the proposed lake in Forest Park.

They want employment in helping to make the proposed lake in Forest Park.

In the acknowledgment of the subscription of $20.75 in yesterday's paper the con-tribution was credited to the employes of the Missouri Pacific Railroad repair shops. This was an error, as the amount was raised in the Missouri Railroad repair shops. We take pleasure in expressing our entire approval of the work preposed by the Lake Employment Fund, and in notifying you that you may call on us for a subscription of $500 to the fund. The objects sought to be attained by your work are of a dual character, and both beneficial to the city of St. Louis. First, you offer relief to the unemployed men of this city. Second, you propose to place in Forest Park a beautiful pleasure lake. St. Louis has always lacked a body of water upon which its citizens might find, health and recreation. This deficiency will be overcome by the establishment of a large lake in Forest Park. We, therefore, commend your plan as seminently practical and beneficent at one and the same time. EMPHATIC STATEMENT TO A CORRE-SPONDENT OF THE POST-DISPATCH.

Will Not Rely on the Jacksonville Mili tia-Appearance of the Official Who Is Now Attracting So Much Attention in the Sporting World-Claims He Has Been Misquoted and Scores Members of the Duval Club.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 16.-If Gov. Mitchell has any intention of abandoning his fight against the Duval Athletic Club, as is hinted by the officials of that, widely adver-tised concern, he doesn't show any signs of t. On the contrary he is more determined than ever to prevent the meeting between Corbett and Mitchell in Jacksonville, or any other place in the State of Florida, and wha s more, he has laid plans which he says can not fail to bring about this result. Upon many occasions since this matter cam up, Gov. Mitcheil has been interviewed in onnection with the fight, and very few of his utterances, he says, have been cor-rectly quoted. To the Post-Disparch staff cor respondent who visited him last night, how ever, he made a plain, straight-forward statement defining his exact position in the matter. The State-house in which the Gov-ernor and other State officials hold forth is not an imposing affair. The offices are very plainly furnished, but that some business is transacted in them is made evident by the presence of the type-writers, who;look over

GOV. MITCHELL. The Governor sits in the smaller of two rooms behind a big square desk, smokes cigars all day long, and does his share owards running the State in a very quiet, ignified way. He is a man rather above medium height, inclined to be stout, and would attract attention anywhere because of the peculiar formation of his head, which rests so near shoulders that very little neck is visible His face is very long and very broad, and above his small nose two sharp black eyes peep at you. His hair is silvery white, and he has plenty of it. The Governor looks like a determined man, and after spending a few minutes in his office, nine men out of ten would take his word, if he said he would do a would take his word, if he said he would do a certain thing. Bowden says he is a "bind" er." If he is, he is a good one, but he declares most emphatically that he is not.

There is no red tape about this modest state-house. Around it lurks an air of pura Jeffersonian Democracy and it's no trouble to reach the Governor of Florida. You simply walk in and he tells you to take a seat and relate your trouble. WILL STOP THE FIGHT. When told that the Post-Disparch wanted a final statement from him concerning his ideas on the Corbett-Mitchell affair, he wheeled around in his chair, lighted a cigar, cocked his feet upon the window sill, and staring over a pair of rubber-framed eye glasses, said bluntly:

"You can tell the Post-Disparch I'm going to prevent this prize fight, for that's what it is, no matter what many other terms are appiled to it."
"But it is hinted that the Jacksonville Militia has declined to aid you," was sug-

"But it is hinted that the Jacksonville Militia has decimed to aid you," was suggested.

"That is not true," said the Governor sharply, "and it is unfair to the men in the several companies for such reports to get out, but if they did happen to so decline, it would not affect my plans in the slightest degree. I'm going to prevent that fight, and that sail there is about it. The good citizens of Florida are behind me, and if Bowden and his men think I'm bluming they are entitled to their opinions. The Attorney General says that it's against the law, and that should be enough for any law-abiding citizen. Corbett and Mitchell cannot fight in this State. I know there are a great many people in the North who are only waiting for a positive assurance that the fight will take place to start for Jacksonville. I haven't a very high opinion of men who will aid with their money such an affair. If they take these manifestoes of the Duval Athletic Club, which is a myth, and come down here and spend money, it's their own fault. They certainly have had ample warning.

HAD PLENTY OF WARNING. "But Bowden says they will and declares that you have no power to interfere," put in the Post-Disparch correspondent. the Fost-Disparcii correspondent.

"Oh, I know that, but who is this Bowden?" was the Governor's rejoinder. "He wants an interview with me to-morrow, and he can have it, but he may as well save his fare if he hopes that any whining he may do about the money he's going to lose will change my attitude toward affairs. He knew my feelings in this matter in time to get out without the loss of a dollar. Now I hope it will cost him all he has. A man who will in the most foolhardy way expend money in an enterprise like this, which the Attorney-General has declared illegal, deserves to pay for his pigheadedness. I doubt if Bowden cares whether there is a fight or not if he can get out with a whole skin. Jacksonville is not the State of Florida by a long chaik and the religious people of the community certainly will have some rights, which I shall take care to protect. If these Northern men are so anxious to see this fight, why in blazes don't they have it up there! Florida is a small state. It is not to be the dumping ground for this sort of thing. No sir, Florida may be small, but her citizens shall be protected against the intrusion of law-breakers. Bowden says I will not dare to carry out my plans. He threatens to bring suit against me. Well, he's doing all the threatening, and we shall see whether this insignificant fellow can run this state. I haven't been asleep all this time, I can assure you."

OUTSIDE MILITIA.

"Have you read that the club has several "Oh, I know that, but who is this Bow OUTSIDE MILITIA. other plans in view if Jacksonville is abanoned?" was asked.

"I have," said Gov. Mitchell, "and I redoned?" was asked.

"I have," said Gov. Mitchell, "and I repeat emphatically that the fight shall be prevented in the State of Florida. I grant you they may sneak off in the woods somewhere and have it out, but I don't see how even this can be done. I shall not call upon the Jacksonville millitia. Some of them are in favor of the fight, and have friends who are interested."

"Then you will employ the militle of some other point of the State?"

"You may draw your own conclusions. The Adjutant-General has planned to cover every point near Jacksonville and St. Augustine which might be available, and his men are men who may be depended upon, I am told that these law breakers are circulating a story that a certain railroad has offered its entire service to them for one day. I do not believe there is a railroad has offered its entire service to them for one day. I do not believe there is a railroad in Florida which would stoop to such an unlawful act, but I am prepared in any event."

In reference to his letter to Bowden, which the latter said would put the Governor in a bad light if its contents were published, Gov. Mitchell had very little to say.

"I can't afford to enter into a controversy with such a thing as Bowden," was his caustic comment, "but we'll find out before long where he stands.

FIGHT AGAINST PRANCHISES ON THE LINES OF MAYOR PINGREE.

Meeting Called for Friday Night to Prepare Plans of Action-Reasons Why the St. Louis Subway Co. Bill Is Supposed to Be a Bell Measure-A Flock of Bills to Give Legislators Exouse For Voting Is Looked for-Mr. Sutter Defines His Position.

A united effort is to be made by the labor organizations of St. Louis, aided by the Single Tax League, not only to put the elec-tric wires underground and put them there as soon as may be, but to force the city to supply the snoway into which they shall go, and when it has supplied it to take up the scheme of municipal control of the telephone of perfection that it has the water service. The joint committee meeting last night at 1780 Wash street was a mere conference. It was for the purpose of considering plans for organization, not to map out the fight on franchises that it is proposed to wage relent-lessly until St. Louis becomes another Derolt and its treasury shares with the franchise procurers the profits of using city

"We simply discussed the situation," said Sheridan Webster of the Single Tax League. 'We had been waiting to act until the time came for a popular movement, a movement that the papers would support. We got word that arrangements had been made to pass the Bell Telephone bill and $100,000 would be spent in getting it through and that every vote was pledged. We ap-pointed a committe to investigate. I was on it. We sent back word to our informant that we were doubtful if he knew what he was talking about. He gave us assurances that convinced us. We watched. When the two subway bills came in Friday night we took our cue, We have adjourned to meet at room 501 Fagin Build-

WILL PIGHT PRANCHISES.

It will supply free to the city, in considera-tion of the granting of the franchise, such ducts as shall be necessary to carry the city's fire-alarm, telegraph and the police tele-phone wires. But the provision making the conduit a common carrier does not appear to be in harmony with such ideas of to be in harmony with such ideas of telephone monopoly.

The St. Louis Subway Co. provides for puting electric wires under ground in a conduit and provides the conditions under which the conduit shall be used. The company claims to have been organized under the laws of Missouri and the franchise is for fity years. Within ten days after the granting of the franchise the company is to deposit it,000 with the City Treasurer and keep this deposit good for insurance that it will repair streets torn up in laying conduit and conduit pipes and making repairs. It becomes a common carrier and permits any person to use its system of underground conduits upon streets torn up in laying conduit and conduit pipes and making repairs. It becomes a common carrier and permits any person to use its system of underground conduits upon such terms as shall be mutually agreed upon. If terms shall not be made then the conduit people may appoint an arbitrator, the wire company another and these two arbitrators a third. They fix the tariff. A bond of $23,000 must be filed by the Subway company within thirty days of the granting of the franchise to guarantee carrying out the Board of Public Improvements' regulations.

PORCING PATRONAGE BY LAW. Work is to begin within six months after the franchise is given and when ten miles of conduit are completed, as ten miles must be esch year until forty miles are built, the Board of Public Improvements must notify all wire companies having wires in the territory of the completed conduit that the conduit is ready for occupancy, and with forty days of such notice wires must be removed from the surface and placed in such subway; and if the companies fail to remove thir wires from the surface and place them in the subway; the Board offublic Improvements shall at once cause the same to be removed and placed in the cenduit and shall cause the removal of all poles.

The conduit company is given the right to sue and to levy in the property of users to collect all bills.

After forty miles of conduit are erected additional conduit shall be laid only as enough wires we offered to pay an interest of 6 per cent, and then a five years' lease must be entered into. At the end of the thirty years of the franchies the city may buy the conduit by giving one year's notice and by leaving the price to be paid to three arbitrators, one appointed by the company, one by the city and one by the two thus chosen.

AKALLEGED FLOT DETAILED. tuit are completed, as ten miles must be

"My belief," anys Charles Satter, "is that wires will not go under ground until the placing of them there becomes a commercial necessity or at least a commercial advantage to the companies using electric wires in this town. There is no law that I know of that will compel wires to so down and the provision of the St. Louis Subway Co.'s sought franchise is unconstitutional because it is despotic. It virtually confiscates property in poles and wires strung above ground for no other parpose than to give a subway as incomes. We only ask that if they desire to use poles. We only ask that if they desire to use poles. We only ask that if they decide to go under ground they shall employ our conduit, we are willing to make accord with the development of electrical

When we got our the position that since we have our the conquit and have gone ahead in a carrying out the compulsory and making us a common carrier, franchise for a subway should be until our ordinance has been found or inemiciant to supply conduit when we decided to go ahead conduit we sent a circular to every conduit or every conduit we sent a circular to every conduit and conduits an

or inefficient to supply common when we decided to go ahead conduit we sent a circular to evising company in town, asking for tions as to the best kind of conduit, not look for sentiment in business did not even get common courtesy.

SUTTER PLEADS IGNORANCE Mr. Sutter says he does not kno back of the St. Louis Sabway bill, from the Secretary of the Council to the Subway company and no to file printed copies of its fully to him, as his is the only subway in town. He thinks Councilian James will be compelled to deliver the letter to its owners. Mr. Sutter said that the monopoly of the streets given the Bell Telephone company in New York ran up annual charges for telephone subscribers than here, is $135 a year. In Chicago it is 150.
"The Bell company may go under ground in its own way," Mr. dutter says, "but my idea as a clitsen is that it should restrict its charges to a certain maximum. After it is down the city's chance to protest taxpayers will be gone."

MRBS. CHAS. E. BARNEY'S DEATH.

MRS. CHAS. E. BARNEY'S DEATH. A Woman Who Devoted Much of Her Life to Charitable Work. Mrs. Nellie M. Barney, wife of Chas. E. Barney, Vice-President of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Co., died this morning at her late residence, 6024 West Cabanne place, at 4:30 o'clock. Her death was not unexpected. For seven years she had been not unexpected. For seven years she had been an invalid afflicted with paralysis, and of late it was known that the end was not far. Mrs. Harney, owing to her affliction, was not intimately known in the society of to-day, but the older people will not soon forget her gonerosity and hespitality. When able to get about she spent much of her time in works of charity. Ever ready to assist those who were in pain or trouble, she won for herself the friendship of all she knew, and though she has been practically removed from their midst for years the final separation is a sud blow to her many friends.

The funeral will take place from the St. Rose Church, Goodfeliow and Ettel avenues, Thursday, Jan. 18, st in o'clock a. m., and the interment will be private.

In consequence of the death of Mrs. Barney, the store of Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney will be closed until Friday moraing.

He was then asked about the construc He was then asked about the construction of the stalls in Engine-house No. 52, and also about the maple floor in the sleeping apart-ments. Mr. Bell then asked him about the work at the surgical ward at the City Hospital. This was also in charge of laspector Waters. Witness had ordered a number of minor changes about the ventilators and transoms, as in his judgment they were improvements, as to the warping of the maple floor, that was due entirely to the fact that Dr. Marks had ordered the floor to be washed, and his men had turned the hose on it and flooded it. "Do you think this caused the warping?" 'In my opinion/there is no doubt of it, and I so informed Dr. Marks at the time," There were no defects, he said, in the plumbing and such changes as were made he had ordered. The distilled water tank was never connected, because Dr. Marks said he did moring was cracked by the cold weather. It was laid was cracked by the cold weather. It was laid the work the witness had simply used his best judgment. He acted for the city's best interests. He had not let any of the contracts. The matter of taking down the walls of the Poor-house was then gone into. Witness said he had left a part of the old walls standing because it would have been folly to have gone further. It would only have necessitated more work which would have cost more to the city.

A new wall would not have gone further. It would only have necessitated more work which would have cost more to the city.

A new wall would not have had the same strength as the old one. In lieu of removing the old walls, the contractor put in new platforms at the stair landings and did other extras for which no allowance was made. The city did not lose anything by the change.

Witness explained how he came to sign the

He had a leave of absence, and as he thought the contractor would need the money before his return he would need the money before his return he had signed the vouchers and notified Mr. Finney that he, had done so. The House of Delegates has since, he said, passed a bill paying Mr. Chapline in full for his work. Witness then produced a list of contracts extending back ten years on which extra work had been done and paid for by the city. They all important contracts.

Witness admitted doing work on the outside for private parties. The two jobs at the City-Hospital and Poor-house were the most important the office had to do at that time. Witness had not informed the board that he was going to make the changes he did at the Poor-house. He did not think it necessary.

Mr. John Waters, one of the building inspectors, was the next witness. He had been a carpenter for thirty years and is an ex-member of the House of Delegates. He was appointed under Commissioner Furlong. He had charge of the work at the new surgical ward. He also had charge of the work at the surgical ward. Supervisor of Plumbing Thomas J. Hennessey was next sworn and testified that he had examined the plumbing at the City Hospital and found it to be a good job.

CONTRACTOR CHAPLINE.

Mr. George Chapline, the contractor who did the work at the Poor-house, explained that he found it unnessary to take down more than three feet of the old wall and had so informed Mr. Reid. This fact could not have been discovered before the work was begun.

have been incurred in taking down the walls.

Witness had not yet been paid for the work though he knew that the House of Delegates had passed as ordinance to pay him.

Mr. W. H. Warsam testified that in his opinion as an expert builder there was no necessity for taking down the walls at the Poor-house to the third floor. It would have weakened the walls to have taken them down further. Mr. Reid had acted correctly, an architect had always to use his judgment in making alterations on old buildings. Mr. Reid would have been remiss in his duty had he torn down the walls any further than he did. The defects in the flooring and plastering at the surgical ward were due, in witness' opinion, to the excessive dampness of the walls of the building. The floor had evidently been flooded.

Mr. Roettinger said he had been a carpenter and builder since 1876. He had reconstructed the House of Refuge and Soulard Market. Witness had the contract for the carpenter work on the surgical ward. The present defect of the flooring was due to a hose being used. When he remonstrated he was told it was none of his business. The granitoid work was done in winter and had to be done over again.

ALL IN REID'S FAVOR.
Mr. John Steffen, who did the granitoid fork at the surgical ward, said it was done specifications.

Mr. Bernard O'Reilly, bookkeaper in Commissioner Reid's office, testified that he had been in the office for seven years. There were twenty-eight contracts to his knowledge since 1885 on which extra work was done. It was a very ordinary occurrence for extra work to be allowed on a contract. Witness Said Mr. Reed had been very attentive to his duties. He had spent more time in his office than any of his predecessors. He then gave the duties of the force in the office. An adjournment was then taken until Friday at 11 o'clock.

BATCH OF ELEVEN DECISIONS HANDED DOWN THIS MORNING.

the Case of Otto S. Hirsh Aratust the Order of Brith Abraham for Insurance on His Wife's Death Reversed and Remanded-New Suits - Happenings Under the Court-House Dome.

The Court of Appeals this morning handed lown quite a batch of decisions.
In all eleven written opinions were In all granted last summer to Brewer Anton Griesedleck from his wife, Gertrude Griesedleck. Plaintiff's petition alleged that defended had subjected the plaintiff to many, indignities such as calking himvile names and driving him from his house. A cross bill was filed and the trial of the case lasted three days and developed much sensational testi-In writing the decision, Judge Biggs stated that the evidence was contradictory in all points, but the preponderance was with the plaintiff. An opinion was handed down in the case Samuel T. Hauser, trustee, vs. Judson M. Thompson, appellant; appeal from the Circuit Court. The plaintif obtained, Jan. 17, 1890, judgment against the Bris-tol Hotel Co., a Missouri corporation. Execution was issued, but was returned nulla bona. Subsequently the plaintiff filed a motion in the court wherein the judgment was rendered, asking for an execution against the appellant, an execution against the appellant, alleging that he was the owner of 200 shares of capital stock of the hotel company. upon which he had only paid 50 per cent of their par value, leaving $10,000 unpaid thereon. The defense was that the suit for the collection of paintiff's demand against the hotel company was not commenced within one year after the maturity of such demand. The Court ordered the execution to issue and the appellent appealed. A decision affirming the Judgment of the Circuit Court was handed down, all the judges concurring. the Circuit Court was handed down, all the judges concurring.

In the case of Anna K. Farra, respondent ws. Judson M. Thompson, appellant, the record was the same as in the above case and a similar decision, awarding a judgment against the defendant, was given.

The judgment of the lower court for plaintiff was affirmed in the case of Robert Miller, respondent, vs. the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City Hailway Co., appealed from the Circuit Court of Knox County. This suit was begun before a Justice, to recover for four steers killed by one of the defendant's trains.

was begun before a Justice, to recover for four steers killed by one of the defendant's trains.

In the case of Otto S. Girsch vs. the United States Grand Lodge of the order of Brith Abraham, the judgment of the lower court was reversed and remanded. The order agreed to pay each member $500 upon the death of his wife. Plaintiff's wife died, but defendant refused to pay the benefit on the ground that the membership of the wife had lapsed six months before. The law making the membership of the wife compulsory was passed in 1888. The lower court gave a verdict for plaintiff on the ground that the law was invaild and that the agents of the order had failed to set forth this law in their representations made to induce plaintiff to join. In reversing this decision the Court of Appeals said that such representation omitting the provisions of the law in question were merely grounds for damages and for a release from the contract and would not prevent defendant from enforcing their laws.

A decision was hanned down in the case of Theodore Horstmeyer, defendant in error, vs. Margaret Connors et al., plaintiff in error. In the case the plaintiff recovered a judgment against the defendant for the amount said to have been paid by him at their request for taxes and repairs on cer tain real estate.

The decision allows the defendant in error to remit his recovery against certain defendants, who are minors, within one week. On his failure to dothis the judgment against the adult defendants will be reversed and the cause remanded for further proceedings.

In the case of the Mount Oilve and St. Louis Coal Co. vs. the extent of Charles Slevin. deigs. In the case of the Mount Olive and St. Louis oal Co. vs. the estate of Charles Slevin, de-assed, per Catherine Slevin, administratrix, e finding of the Circuit Court for the dethe finding of the Circuit Count was upheld.

In the case of Margaret Sheridan vs. the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway, the case was remanded. Plaintiffs conveyed to a company to which defendants are successions at right of way over their farm on con-a company to which defendants are successors, a right of way over their farm on condition that they establish a farm crossing over their road. The deed to the right of way was without restriction and the lower court instructed the jury to find for the defendant. The case was remanded because of the lower court having sustained demurrer to the part of the petition alleging ownership of the road and the failure of the company to construct the farm crossing.

The third appeal in the case of James Roberts, respondent, vs. the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City Railway, appeal from Circuit Court of Lewis County, resulted in the verdict being reversed and the case being remanded with directions. The action is one to recover double damages under the railroad fence law for three of plaintiff's horses, killed by defendant's locomotive.

Opinions were also handed down in the following cases: Abraham S. Grant vs. the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, appeal from Knox County; Mary C. Lycan et al. vs. G. M. Miller et al., trustees under will of Eliza J. Grigsby, deceased.

Suit for $5,000 Damage. Before Judge Vallaint this morning was commenced the hearing of the $5,000 damage commenced the hearing of the $5,000 damage sait instituted by Franz Kakat against the Koken Iron works for the loss of a leg.

Kakat alleges that a year ago he was put to work without instructions of any kind on a machine the mechanism of which he did not understand; as a consequence of his ignorance his foot became entangled in the machinery, and was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. Later, owing to some complications, a second amputation became necessary and this was performed but a short time ago.

Sitting in a chair in the Court-room, with the stump of his leg bandaged and supported by another chair, Kakab was an excellent silent witness in his own behalf. His wife and daughter were with him and he was accompanied by several charitable ladies, who have supported the family since the accident occurred.

Harrison Sues for Divorce. In the Circuit Clerk's office this morning Michael F. Harrison filed a petition for divorce from his wife, Ella M. Harrison, whom he married Jan. 12, 1886, and whom he aileged deserted him.

Pollen, stationed themselves on the top floor of the Mayberg Hat Co, and watched the Tennant-Stribling smoke stack from 2.06 p. m. until 4:15 p. m. Mr. Nickemeler testified that the stack belond forth thick gray and dense black smoke at intervals during the afternoon. Mr. Tennant, who was not represented by counsel attempted to cross-examine Mr. Nickemeler when the Smoke Inspector broke out, 'Mr. Tennant you and Ely Walker have the worst stacks on Washington avenue.' Mr. Tennant gave up the Cross-questioning.

Mr. James Cox testified that for two hours after 30 clock on the day in question he had watched the chimney and for forty-two minutes it smoked continuously. Judge Paxson asked him if there were any successful smoke devices in operation and he named on hand the Union Trust, Rislio, Security, Post-Dispatch, Mermod-Jaccard buildings, the Boatman's Bank, Court-house and Hamiltoh-Brown shoe factory as some of the places were smoke abaters were in successful operation.

Mr. Tennant, when put upon the stand, said that he was one of the originators of the smoke abatement crusade and had gone about collecting funds to carry on the work of securing the enforcement of the fordinance. He laughingly Admitted that he was swallowing his own medicine. He acknowledged a fechnical violation of the ordinance, but stated that he had an abater put in his building and had gone so far as to threaten to discharge his engineer and fireman if they did not properly attend to it. He said his stack had not been smoking since he was served with notice of the suit and the reason it had smoked previous to that was because of his engineer's carelessess. Judge Paxson imposed a fine of $10 which he stayed until notice of a further offense.

He said he had studied the question closely for ten years, "The effects of thick gray or black smoke," he said, "are to darken the atmosphere making artificial light necessary: no matter how closely guarded against it deposits soot and damages books, furniture or fabrics of any kind." Mr. Potter paused for some time and then answered: "Yes; it affects the throat, eyes and mucous membrane. Personally I suffer from a throat affection that is greatly aggravated by our smoke-laden atmosphere."

Mr. Potter then explained the various forms of successful smoke abdiers that had come under his observation as chairman of the Smoke Commission. He analyzed the action of the steam jet consumer for Judge Paxson. The principle was that a jet of steam shot into the fire-box produced a partial vacuum. The door of the ash pit below being left up allowed the air to rush into hil up the vacuum. The door of the ash pit below being left up allowed the air to rush into hil up the vacuum. This air swirled around intitle fire chamber and becoming thoroughly mixed with the smoke rendered it easily combustible and most all the carbon was consumed. He said most of the successful smoke consumers were only different appliances of these principles.

Mr. R. Vane then took his stand and explained that he had put in a smoke-abater on the steam jet principle, and heithought if, had been working well. His engineer had told him it was all jright; asked if he find made any attempts to find the best consumer, he said that as many as fifty agents had tried to sell him devices and each claimed to have the best.

many Cape May residents still regard the wreckage of the ill-fated ship Brimisa with the same hushed awe that they do the tomb of a friend. They fail to understand why the broken hull of that unfortunate vessel does not disappear in the sands of Powerty Beach, as scores of other wrecks have done. But the wreck of the Brimiga, like Banquo's ghost, will not down, and it has an uncanny way of shifting about the shore with the changing tides, as if possessed of an inherent animation.

Since the Brimiga was lost in the great blizgard on Hen and Chicken Shoats, when her entire crew perished, including Pilot Henry bldridge of Cape May, her ghoestly remains have given trouble in one way or another, and the superstitions ones are now wondering over the fact that she has again shifted her position. The ancient mariner's idea is that the skeleton of one of the crew is still in the hold and that not until the remains are given decent burial will the hapless ship sink into the sand, finding that mysterious port from which no one ever returns.

Mr. Butler modestly disclaimed the title of expert, but in giving his opinion of the devices explained by Prof. Potter he said: "Some gentlemen may claim to have invented them lately, but I used them way back in "52 when I was on the Abraham Jacobs." Mr. Butler's ill success with his steam jet apparatus seemed to have been caused by his anxiety to apply it with some original improvements. The judgment of the court was the same as in the preceding case.

The Possible Effect the Senate's Action May Have on the President. WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 -Wm. R. Horn for a place on the Supreme bench, has been rejected by the Senate. The opposition wa ed by Hill of New York and Vest of Missouri. There can be but one reason assigned for this action. It is that certain of the Senator wished to make an emphatic declaration of their independence declaration of their independence of the Administration. There were no serious objections to Mr. Hornblower himself, or if there were they did not come prominently to the surface.

It remains to be seen what effect this action will have on President Cleveland. It is whispered he may retailate by being very slow to make Federal nominations from States represented by the hostile Senators.

Amalgamated Association Seriously Considering Entering Suit for Damages. PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 16 .- The Amalgamated Association is seriously considering ages against the iron and steel manufacturers, who, it is alleged, have repudiated contracts with the association by insisting upon further reduction in wages of the workmen. In speaking of the matter, President M. M. Garof the Amalgamated Association and of the Amaignmated Association said that in view of the many broken contracts recently, the association proposed to look carefully into the legality of such agreements. He said that if there are legal grounds for instituting against manufacturers who have repudiated their agreements, proceedings will be ordered. He says damages will be asked for if possible.

Sultan Muley Hassan Takes the Field to Suppress the Mountaineers.

MADRID, Jan. 16.-Dispatches to the Gov. Sultan Muley Hassan of Morocco has taken the field at the head of his army to assist the Spaniards in putting down the revolt of the Riff tribes. The Suitan's fighting force consists mainly of 10,-000 infantrymen under the command of a former British officer, who some years since entered the service of the Suitan. In addition to the foot soldiers, there are about 500 rather poorly disciplined cavalry, a few batterles of field guns, commanded by three French officers, and 2,000 irregular cavalry.

The revolt of the Riffs has proved very costly to Spain. So far the Spanish troops have been unequal to the task of subduing the wild mountaineers. The leader of the Riffs is the famous Malmon Mohatar or Mojatar. He has all the traits of the Berber race, being as cruel in victory as he is cowardly in defeat. He is the inspirer of all that is thought, said and done against Spain in the Riff region. Haughty and defiant when he succeeded in his expeditions, he was also seen often making humble submission and kneeling in the dust at the feet of the Governors of Meillia, who footishly granted him a pardon after he had failed in some of his many raids upon Spanish-African territory. the revolt of the Riff tribes. A veritable rival of the London fogs bovered over this city this morning. It was learned at the Signal Service office that St. Louis has not owned the fogs all to herself, but that for several days past the complaint has been shared by all districts of the Central Valley. There was probably some fog here

Valley. There was probably some fog here yesterday though it could not be detected for the smoke. The Signal Service people say that there are doubtless a great many fogs here that are sever reported, because it cannot be told from the smoke and they had rather report no fog when there was one than to call smoke a fog.

"Fogs, you know," said Assistant Observer Herndon, "are nothing but atmosphere laden with visible particles of moisture and held to the earth by the heaviness of the atmosphere above—a cloud on the ground is other words. At this time of the year the water is warmer than the earth, and the air, cooled by passing over the land coming in contact with the warm water, causes a mist to be formed. Fogs occur at no stated conditions of the barometer but may occur in a range of three inches in the stage of the barometer, that is from readings $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ to the barometer foat here this morning $\frac{1}{2}$ sinches or about normal. The difference between the extreme readings of the barometer here is not more than an inch and a half, the greatest being thirty-one inches and the least about twenty-nine and a half, the greatest being thirty-one inches and the least about twenty-nine and a half, the greatest being thirty-one inches and the least about twenty-nine and a half, the greatest being thirty-one inches and the least about twenty-nine and a half inches. School Board's Position in the Free L brary Muddle.

President Brockman Says the People Did Not Vote to Turn the Old Library and Its Quarters Over to the New Board-School Board Needs the Money-A Hot Debate.

POLYTECHNIC WILL BE DEMANDED.

The Library Committee of the School Board and the special committee of the Board of Governors met in the Board of Education Building last night. Hon. John W. Noble was present at the request of the Gov argument by outlining the history of th vement. He was followed by President Brockman, who asked the Free Library Board what proposition it had to offer. Mr. Jocob constituency for the same purpose, education, and declared that the Free Library Board would pay education, and Free Library no money for the privilege of lifting a burden off of the School Board's shoulders. John W. Noble took up the argument and said that when the people voted for the free library they meant that the books, fixtures and rooms should be given up by the School Board. Secretary Player read in response a com-munication from Attorney Stark saying the board did not have to give up the books. Mr. Furth asked the board for a proposition and Dr. Wait replied that $10,000 for fixtures and furniture and 6 per cent interest on the proportionate value of the building for ental were the terms considered by the board. This was discussed pro and con until several gentlemen grew warm under the collar. The result of the discussion was the adoption of Dr. Hickman's motion to have a committee

WHAT THE PEOPLE VOTED FOR.
That the School Board can not be forced by law to give up the books is virtually admitted last election did not vote to turn the library over to the now board or make the present public libray free. They voted to establish a free library. The ordinance was in a section of the rate ordinance (17201) passed by the assembly in 1883 and was as follows:

1893 and was as follows:

Sec. 3. Under authority of section seventeen hundred and seventy-nine. Revised Statutes of eighteen hundred eighty-nine, there is hereby levied on the assessed valuation of all subjects and objects of taxation and all property within the city made taxable by law for State purposes, a tax for the year eighteen hundred and ninety-three of one-fifth of one mill per dollar for the library fund.

This section was then submitted and the people in accordance with the section 1779 revised, which provides that the people shall vote upon the proposition, the form of question on theballot was as follows:

FOR a one-fifth of a mill tax for a Free Public FOR a one-dith of a mill tax for a Free Public Library. AGAINST a one-fifth of a mill tax for a Free Public Library.

Library.

In the ordinance and on the ballot nothing appears to show that the public library was to be turned over to the new Board of Managers appointed by the Mayor. The law referred to by the ordinance provides for the establishment of a library, and tells how the money shall be raised and how the library for the people shall be governed. BROCKMAN EXPLAINS.

President Brockman, when seen in regard mittee, said: "It is simply $this, there is no and the said: "It is simply given to the people voted to estable a free library. The people voted to estable a free library. The people voted to estable a free library. The schools need money. The Library Committee will have $60,000 per year to run a library which can be run for $20,000. The School Board wants to have the library taken off its hands, but it does not propose to keep losing money by ft. We have two large floors suitable for office purposes which will certainly bring in 6 per cent on the money invested. Now why should the School Board rob itself for the benefit of a library for the people, especially when they are giving that library to the people? They expect us to give them rent free, elevator service, light and beat, besides turning over the library, worth $250,000, to them. If they take the library out of the building we would have the two upper floors and be able to move the board offices or mercantile purposes. It is a plain business proposition in which the School Board is watching the interests of the school fund and trying to get a few more dollars for the school children, and simply refuse to furnish heat, light, elevator service and quarters for a different corporation under the State law." law compelling us to turn over the library ome Sights That Were Seen From There was one portion of the White City that many thousands of the 27,000,000 visitors to the great Exposition in Jackson Park visited, and where they obtained views of the big buildings which were not afforded from any other point of observation. It was the center of Wooded Island. Situated in the very center of the immense grounds, surrounded on all sides by the airy white castles and separated from them by the broad lagoons, it offered an opportunity to view to better advantage the grandeur of the Fair than any spot within the gates. It was said by persons who had seen every exposition in America and Europe since the Centennial of 1876 that the greatest charm and beauty of the World's Fair was the water views, the reflection of the buildings on the glassy surface of the lagoons and basins, and the view that could be had of them over the water. Many features of the big structures would have been unnoticed it was said but for the perfectness of vision afforded by the water. On Wooded Island the spectator could not look on any side without seeing in the foreground a sheet of water which heightened and beautified the view. There were but two main buildings on the grounds which did not come within the range of his vision while stationed on the Island, and these were the Agricultural and Machinery Buildings. In Portfolio No. 8, which was issued Sunday, about half the scenes pictured are taken from this enchanted isle, and they make up a collection of perhaps the most attractive photographs that have been put forth. The artist can be followed in his movements as close and accurately, by one who has the book, as though they were watching him in the act of taking the scenes with his camera.

The book opens with a picture of Moose bridge, which led the pedestrian from near the Festival Hall across the lagoon to the island. Two splendid statues of the Moose, larger than life-size and an sperfect as could be made, were mounted on pedestais on each side and gave the bridge its name. Then in succession the artist took the views to the south, east and west, showing the grand avenue between the Mining and Electricity Buildings, the Liberal Arts Building arobs the lagoon, the Fisheries Buil the big buildings which were not afforded from any other point of observation. It was the center of Wooded Island. Situated in the

The piece deals with the linison of a young barrister and Mrs. Grundy, the wife of a gas inspector.

The endeavors of the young man to get out of the trouble lead his friends into it. The story is full of complications and has more threadsto it than the most of farce comedies, still all it needs is a few specialties thrown in to fit it for Mark Murphy or some burlesque company. To say the least the piece is a departure from the high-class performances with which the Frohmans have been connected. Still it is funny and gets what it was written for, the laughter of the audience. The company are clever and succeed in making something out of nothing.

NO TRUTH IN THE RUMOR SHE WANT PECUNIARY DAMAGES.

She Will Patiently Await the Arbitration of Her Case by the United States-What an English Paper Says About Rumors of Her Threatened Early Death-Cleveland Commended.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 16 .- In corre pondence from Hawaii received by the eamer Australia there was an assertion that the deposed Queen has given up the con test and will sue the United States for dam ages for the part taken by the former representatives of this country at the time the Provisional Government was substituted for

Samuel Parker, Prime Minister of the ex-A. A. Peterson, Attorney- General, two members of the Cabinet at the time of the change in Government, came by the same steamer. They briefly denied the statement, deeming that it was unimportant. Last night they noticed in the telegraphic dispatches from Washington that considerable weight is given at the capital to this report. In consequence Mr. Par-Secretary of State Gresham, signed as Prime

Secretary of State Gresham, signed as Prime Minister of Foreign Affairs, positively denying these assertions and declaring that the Queen has submitted her case to the arbitration of the United States and will patiently await that verdict.

Mr. Parker and Mr. Peterson both said last evening that they saw the Queen half an hour before they left on the steamer Australia, and she was firm in her determination to maintain her claim to the throne. At no time did she or any of her advisers mention the possibility of presenting a claim to the United States for pecuniary damages.

English View of Hawaiian Affairs. LONDON, Jan. 16. The Times, in a leading article, says: "It is prudent to accept all unofficial rumors from Hawaii with reserve. is possible that the report that the ex-It is possible that the report that the exQueen is in danger of death is weil founded, and it is easy to believe that also constitutional weakness of heart must have been severely aggravated by the intense and prolonged anxiety of her present position.
On the other hand, it is conceivable that some persons concerned in the infrigue of her downfall must be interested in spreading false reports in regard to her health. It is amusing and instructive to observe that although the whole conspiracy which Mr. Thurston concocted and executed by the aid of the American Minister was simply a plot to annex the islands to the United states against the will of the Queen, he imitates President Dole's example and swaggers about the international rights of the independent Republic of Hawaii."
The article proceeds to commend Mr. Cleveland for his firm attitude in the Hawaiian matter and continues: "What the uitimate issue will be it is not easy to say, but in the face of Mr. Willis' dispatches it is satisfactory to know that there is a naval force handy sufficient to protect the lives and property of the British inhabitants. It is probable that the risk of a violent attempt on the ex-Queen is not serious, but it is both ludicrous and significant to find that the American Minister relies upon the telephone from the ex-Queen's house to his room for her protection. Although Liliuokainni is no doubt well advised in assenting to Cleveland's terms, it can not be denied that the objections she originally urged against them have a deal of force. In the dramatic conversation reported by Mr.
Wills, she exhibited a cuteness of understandings well as queenly dignity of a really striking kind." Queen is in danger of death is well founded.

WEIL-NAHM.

A Pretty Wedding to Occur This Even-ing-Will Reside in Milwaukee.

A quiet but pretty wedding will take place this evening at 6:30 o'clock, the bride being Miss Edna Earle Nahm, daughter of Mrs. Hannah Nahm of 8308 Chestnut street, and the bridegroom, Mr. Alex Well of Milwaukee The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr.

the bridegroom, Mr. Alex Weil of Milwaukee. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. Sale, at the home of the bride..

The reception hall and parlors will be prettily decorated with potted plants and La France roses, tied with plak ribbons. A large bell made of white bride's roses and maiden hair ferns will be suspended above the place where the bride and groom will stand during the ceremony, the background being filled in with growing paims and vines of smilax forming a bower, caught together with bows of pale pink ribbon. The bride's only attendant will be her little niece, Miss Gladys Lowenstein, from New York City. The bride, a tall and stately brunette, will wear a gown of heavy white slik, the skirt made close fitting at the hips and fiaring at the bottom after the style of sixty years ago, and ending in a long court train at the back. The corasge is cut high and made with long sleeves. The yoke and a girdle which is worn at the waist formed of pearl and crystal embroidery, the latter finished with a fringe of pearl and crystal beads. The bodice will be trimmed with a handsome full bertha of point lace, a frill of the lace finishing the sleeves about the wrists. A long vell of white tuils will fall over the whole, fastened to the dark tresses of the bride with pearl pins and a spray of lily of the valley, the same fragrant flowers mixed with bride roses forming her bouquet.

The little flower girl will be gowned in a pretty costume of white creps and lace, and carry a basket filled with pink and white roses which form the color tones of the wedding.

WITHHELD SECURITIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 16.-A loca paper prints a dispatch from New York stating that it is rumored on Wall street that on Stanford and C. P. Huntington there was some question as to the latter's ability to control the Galveston, Houston & Texas Rail-road and other lines in which Stanford is road and other lines in which Stanford is said to have held large interests with Huntington. According to the story Mrs. Stanford discovered that Huntington withheld from her knowledge large blocks of securities held by himself and Stanford in common, and that there is a possibility of a suit against Huntington for over $1,000,000.

The paper, commenting on the dispatch, says the story is substantially correct. Judge Spencer, Mrs. Stanford's attorney, who is reported to have written a sharp letter to Huntington demanding an accounting, when asked about the story said:

'I must decline to be interviewed on that subject. If Mr. Huntington wishes to talk he can do so. He may tell as little or as much as he pleases. He is not an attorney practicing other people's business.

Mrs. Stanford ascertained, it is claimed, that $3,000,000 of her late husband's indebtedness to the Pacific Improvement Co. had been paid. By whom she did not know, as she had not authorized such payment. Investigation showed that the $3,000,000 had been made up by the sale of certain railroad securities. These securities had not been in Mrs. Stanford's possession. When it was discovered that these 'securities had not been included in the inventory of the Stanford estate, it shegan to be suspected that Huntington had soid the stock to himself and was keeping control of certain important securities. Then it was ascertained that a long line of securities were in the same condition, held by Huntington but claimed by the Stanford estate. Then it was the securities are not produced, suit will be commenced to secure them. Appraisement of the estate is not finished yet, though the schedule should be filed Jan. 17. said to have held large interests with Hunt-

Youths Captured With Dr. Sollberger's Horse and Buggy.

While Dr. Rudolph Sollberger's horse and buggy were standing in front of his day at noon, some unknown persons jumped into it and drove off. Some time latter as Officers Rudolph and Whalen were standing at Wisconsin avenue and Broadway, three young men who approached in a buggy jumped out and started to run away. The officers gathered the trio in and ascertained that they were John Madden, Adam Kapper, each 16 years old, and Petz Marrio, aged 17. They were brought to the Second District Police Station and, the horse which had run away and was caught at Miami street and Marine avenue, was identified by Dr. Soliberger. The buggy collided with a telegraph pole, where the horse was caught, and was damaged to the extent of $20. A case of surgical instruments was in the buggy at the time.

It is said that the girl remonstrated with him for standing under the bridge and watching her as she crossed and that he then shot her. Dropped the Shoes.

Two men entered the shoe shop of August Brinck, at 808 North Jefferson avenue, about 6 o'clock last evening, and one of them asked what would be the charge for half-soling a pair of shoes. The other man grabbed a pair of second-hand shoes from the window and both rusbed out. The shoemaker chased them, and the man who had the shoes dropped them and they were recovered. The two men are both about 28 years old, smooth faces, one tail, the other medium, and both wore dark clothes.

At an early hour yesterday morning she was found in a wine-room at 1401 Chestnut street in a beastly state of intoxication. She was under a delision that someone had ran away with her son, a lad of 2 gears. The right side of her face was bruised and skinned and some cruel hand had wreached her right ear-ring from its place with such force that the lobe was split from the hole downward. Her ear was bleeding and her face was bathed in gore, and the police decided to send her to the hospital a prisoner. She has a round shapely face, marred by signs of dissipation and naturally yellow hair, blonded to a radical hue. She craved for a cigarette and was allowed to take a few whiffs from a half-smoked one. She inhaled with the ease and zest of a fiend. "It was born at Bunker Hill, Ill." she said. "My stepmother put me with a troupe of acrobats when I was 5 years of age and I soon became a proficient trapeze actor. I was in this business until I was 14, and then I married a pugillst named Neavoll. That yut an end to my acrobatic work. He was a pretty good man. I boxed with him sometimes and he knocked out this tooth," pointing to avacancy in the upper front row. "I had five children. Four are dead. TOUCHING APPEAL

The first call for the registration of the memployed desiring work on the Forest Park Lake was published in the Post-Dis-PATCH Saturday afternoon, Yesterday over 1,100 men had applied. Sunday having intervened these applications were practically made within the period of one day.

What stronger proof could there be o the pressing need of the relief offered by the Lake Employment Fund than this eager rush of men for work? These applicants are honest, industrious workingnen. Nothing is offered them except the bare means of a living in return for a day's labor. They seek only the poor privilege of working to earn bread for hemselves and their families.

Under the ordinary ratio of voters to population the application of over 1,100 men for work in one day means that over 5,000 persons are without means of support. But the application list has just been opened. To-day there was an enormous increase in the number of applicants. The revelation of the Post-Dispatch employment registration list is sufficient to touch the hardest heart with profound pity.

The picture of a great throng of strong willing workers pleading for work is full of pathos. It is an irresistible appeal to their more fortunate fellow-men, Who can refuse to help these men to help them selves? Who can refuse to aid in keeping them from despair and the humiliation of beggary, and in saving them and their families from starvation? Their pitiful plea for work should be enough to stimulate all to help them, but when a plan of relief is put forward which not only offers them work and wages, but all the people of St. Louis a great benefit, what excuse can be given for not helping it to success?

The men who are pleading for work at this office are suffering now. They need wages at once. Every day's delay deepens their distress. Whatever you give, give promptly.

MUST MAKE A CHOICE.

The Democratic party is the party of popular rights and progress, This was the purpose of its organization and its as it was produced by the civil war. triumphs have been triumphs of liberty. The people will forget all about and improvement.

But it has not always won its battle When a party in a self-governing country is tied to special interests or to a policy which promotes the prosperity of a class at the expense of the general welfare it is bound to decay morally and intellectually. This happened to the Democratic party in the slavery contest and the Republican party came into being to carry on the real Democratic work in a special emergency when the party of Jefferson and Jackson was employed to restrain rather than enlarge the liberties of the people. And it happened to the Republicans also when, having obtained complete control of the influence of the money power and was used to serve the purposes of an aspiring plutocracy.

The dominant party is always expe to such dangers, and if it succumbs to temptation it is sure to meet with disaster. NO SUBWAY MONOFOLY.

The Single Tax League has started good, practical work for the benefit of St. Louisans in opposing the granting of private franchises for wire subways. Whatever may be the motive of the members of the league, their object is good and in line with the interests of the public.

The underground space for conduits i limited, and the company which first secures a franchise will have an advantage over other companies, which may be turned There can be no question of profit or ad- into an oppressive monopoly. All the protestations that corporation manager may make of the unselfishness of their purposes will be vain. Everyone knows that no possibility of twisting a private franchise into a monopoly will be neglected by the company owning it. Every safeguard will be attacked.

The fact that a corporation like the Bell Telephone Co., which has enjoyed a monopoly for years and is eager to continue it. insists upon the private franchise scheme sufficient to condemn it. If it seeks no advantage why should it not be willing to go into a municipal subway with equal advantages for all competitors?

The municipal subway represents only wise and safe solution of the underground wire problem. It enables the city to retain control of the subway privileges. It cuts off all possibility of monopoly. It will be a profitable investment.

But unless the matter is closely watched the chances are that a subway monopoly will be granted. The Bell Telephone and other strong companies are taking care of their interests. The city's interests need guarding, and general support should be given the effort of the Single Tax League to do this public service.

WAR IN EUROPE.

A general war in Europe at this time o at any time during the next few years would be a disaster to America, the magnitude of which cannot be calculated.

We are now engaged in working out a new fiscal system to take the place of the happy-go-lucky makeshift which for so many years has been used to promote the fortunes of special interests and speculating adventurers. The currency is tainted with an element of uncertainty which is the bane of real industry and which is a perpetual discouragement of legitimate enterprise. The borrower limits his business activity through fear of an appreciating standard which stealthily adds to his obligations while the lender's confidence is impaired by a dread of depreciation in the money unit. Taxation, which should be imposed only to raise revenue for the support of Government economically administered, is at present employed chiefly to serve the purposes of privilege while the interests of the people are forgotten or ignored. These facts have been recognized and the work of radical reform has been ordered which shall place the country upon a healthy Democratic foundation.

A war in Europe would put a stop to this reform work. An artificial prosperity would be evoked by the practical cessation of industry in the warring countries, just on sense and financial wisdom and mistake a fever for the glow of health. Thus it has been in the past, and there is no reason to believe that it will be otherwise in the future.

The popular belief that a great European war should be welcomed as a grand opportunity out of which America might grow rich is founded upon a most vicious conomic fallacy. It will no doubt enrich many individuals, but it will not add to the prosperity of the country. On the contrary it will tend to mphasize the class distinctions which are even now so clearly in evidence and, worse than all, full the people into acquiesence Government, it fell under the corrupting in our present diseased condition. Let us hope that the great war may be postponed until we find a cure for the ills which torment us. IT is strange that in the face of the Wilso bill the factory of the Dobsons, near Philadelphia, is about to open, employing 1,800 hands, and that the Disston Saw-works (2,000 hands), the Sanford Carpet Mills ton Mills (350 hands), and (2,000 hands), will also open.

It is really greatly to be regretted that Mr. McKinley cannot go down and instruct the Southern people. put a head on him.

rom THE NEW YORK WORLD There are in the signs of the times good reasons for hopefulness and courage. probability is that the worst is over, and that business has begun a course of improvement that will be steady and continuous.

Two developments of the last fortnight are particularly cheerful. There have been ewer failures than were expected. It easily possible and was greatly feared that the immediate consequences of the new year's settlements would be numerous and heavy failures, spreading gloom and discouragement. The time has not been free of misfortunes, but they have been so much lewer in number and less in magnitude that had been feared that there is a sense of post-tive relief. Another favorable symptom is the resum tion of work in many departments of in dustry. It appears to be true now that mor men are being employed than are being dis charged. This is the condition of better times. If it continues it will bring times. Wages may be low, but any wage are better than none, and all the neces saries of life are as cheap as they can be ander a high tariff.

Hungry and Unhoused.

From the St. Louis Christian Advocate.
The most important question before the American people to-day is to provide for the vast and increasing army of the unemployed. The streets of every great city in our country are filled with hungry, unhoused and idle men, who would willingly work if they could find employment. It is estimated that there are over 2,000,000 of these unemp and destitute men, many of them with families, who are living on charity and who kn not where the next meal is to come from.

Crowded Street Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: The street car service of the Cass avenue line has been miserable in the mornings for the past few months. There are twenty mo tor cars running at the hours when traffic is heaviest, from 7 to 9 o'clock, and that number, without trailers, is not sufficient to accommodate the individuals who of necessity are forced to patronize the line. Frequently I have been compelled to wait on the street corner and allow three or four cars to pass, owing to their crowded condition, and finally when I would be fortunate enough to land on the steps of the rear platform after a violent plunge of the passing car, I would find twenty or more passengers huddled together on the platform, while the body of the car was tightly wedged with a mass of humanity. In this condition I would be forced to rest content, with one foot on the step of the car shd the other wildly plowing the air, giving me the appearance of a modern flying machine. I understand there are twenty or more trailers lying in the Cass avenue car sheds. The reason they do not attach them to the motor cars is the extra expense of manning the trailer with a conductor. I should like to see steps taken by the proper authorities to compel the Cass avenue & Fair Grounds Railway to supply adequate accommodations to the reparence. tor cars running at the hours when traffic !

WAS ONCE CAPTAIN OF THE FAMOUS CINCINNATI REDS.

George, better known as "White Wings rebeau, will make his reappearance in the National League ranks the coming season with Gus Schmelz' Washington Senators.
George is a brother of Oliver, or, as he is better known, Patsy Tebeau, the Cleveland manager-captain and first baseman, and both are North St. Louis boys. Six or seven years ago, when Charley Comiskey was first attracting attention with the St. Louis Browns the Tebeau boys were the stars of the Shamrocks, North St. Louis' crack amateur team. George was a pitcher in those days and Oliver covered third base. In addition to the Tebeau boys the Shamrock team included Jack O'Qonnor, now one of the best backstops and outfielders in the National League. George Tebeau left the Shamrocks to join the Western League, the Shamrocks to join the Western League, and when his arm went back on him, he developed into an outfielder. Cincinnati secured him, and while he was with the reds, his loud rasping voice and peculiar carriage of his arms earned for him the title of "White Wings," that song being in the height of its popularity then. George Tebeau was the popularity then. George Tebeau was the first of the Shamrocks to make a hit on the professional diamond, and North St. Louis would turn out in a body almost when he came to town with the Cincinnati team. George's head swelled out of sight, when his was made captain of the Cincinnati team. When his work commenced to go back, however, Cincinnati soon turned him adrift and he joined the Western League once more. About the time George returned to the Western League his brother Pat and Jack O'Connor ware beginning to attract attention. When ware beginning to attract attention. The police and detectives of this city are scouring the city for a man named A. Sarth, who has swindled the United States Express Co. and the jewelry firm of Ball & Co. of New York out nearly $1,000 worth of diamonds. A man giving his name as Mr. Kroneman of the firm of Kroneman & Brown of Nashville, Tenn., called on Ball & Co. and said he wanted to send some diamonds to his brother in law A. Barth, a prominent tanner of Albany, Ind. The diamonds were sent, but the real Mr. Barth refused the package and, three days later, a young man who identified himself as A. Barth to the United States Express officials at Albany, Ind., got the package. Since then Kroneman and Barth have proven to be frauds. Barth, who got the diamonds, stopped long enough at Albany, Ind., to secure evidence of his identity as Barth, and during his stay there got numerous letters from some female in this city. It is supposed that the man who got the diamonds came to Louis-to meet the woman and the local officials are now trying to locate them.

HOMINY MILLERS

Mysterious Meeting at the S ern-Rumors of a Trust.

Somewhat of a mysterious meeting is being seld in the gentleman's parlor of the Southern to-day in which a dozen or more gentlemen are participating. A Post-Disparce reporter made quite a number of unsuccessful attempts to gain entrance to the room when the star chamber conference was being held, but was informed that no meeting was being held, although a large placard was tacked to the door informing the curious that a meeting was being held and that it was of a private nature. In the rotunda of the hotel it was ascertained that a meeting of the hominy millers of the United States was in progress, and the following gentlemen were in attendance: Messrs. Thompson, Indiana; Hodge, Ohlo, Jenkins and Hudmet, Indiana; Shelly and Heilman, Kentucky; Feiner and Flannigan, Missouri, and Morton of Nebraska. reporter made quite a number of unsuccess-

Heliman, Kentucky; Feiner and Flannigan, Missouri, and Morton of Nebraska. When a recess was taken at 1 o'clock for lunch the gentlemen stoutly protested that no meeting had been held, the gathering being purely of a social nature. Mr. Heliman of Kentucky, who presided, when asked about a rumor that the hominy millers had met for the purpose of effecting a trust, denied it in emphatic terms. "Since there is going to be a publication of the meeting made," said Mr. Heliman, "I will give you the facts in the case. We have organized no trust and could not if we so desired. We tried to organize an association some six years ago, but made a dismal failure. There are some forty hominy mills in the United States, but we have never been able to get more than ten represented at any meeting we have held, which has been once a month in Chicago. Of course, our meeting to-day is being held to benefit our own interests. The price of corn having gone up we are going to make an effort to raise the price of hominy. We accomplished absolutely nothing at our morning session, but hope to at our afternoon session."

The reticent manner of the hominy millers has caused the belief that this is their first meeting and that an attempt is being made to formulate a trust, although this is denied by Chairman Heilman.

BETTER DAYS.

Help From the Only McNichols.

Better days are coming fast,
Better than those of the past;
Those who need help—don't forget it,
They are just the ones to get it.
Our McNichol, he procides,
He whose plan some folks derides,
His plan is not made of foam,
But will promise all a home.

Little money; he has said it.
Little money; cash or credit.
They who need a lift once more
Get it at Mexichols' store.
Times are hard, all men allow;
Homes cannot be made just now.
only by this system seek Comfort—payments by the week.

Boarding is not quite the thing: Nothing there to which you cling, But, oh, how the heart can thrive In a home where we're silve— Baby, mamma, papa, boys, No one grumbles at the noise; Little, dainty, small and neat, But to get such, what a treat!

Goods, you'll find all over town; Some have even out prices down, but nowhere, and this the picke, Will you find one like McNichol. He will help while others scoff, He will take that burden off, Ill will; show you how to live, And a weekly trifle give.

Yes, no one like him, "The Only McNichol." He rill do what no one else will on earth for those who ave little money, simply tell him your stery.

(Trade Mark.) The Only McNichol,

Dol5-1022-1024 Market street.

P. S.—He furnish you a home with the best Furniture, Carpets, Bedding, Pictures, Clocks, Lamps, Dishes, Stoves, Ranges. Everything you need fot the least money, on this, the longest time and credit.

THE COUGHLIN TRIAL.

The Prosecution Will Not Close Their Evidence Before To-Morrow. CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 16.—The prosecution in the Coughlin case announced to-day that the State's evidence will not be finished before to-morrow night. It was expected that the case would be turned over to the defense to-day, but delay was caused by difficulty in procuring witnesses. It is isaid that Henry Charles (1900) and the case would be turned over to the defense to-day, but delay was caused by difficulty in procuring witnesses. It is isaid that Henry Charles (1900) and the way an important owen O'Connor, who was an important State's witness at the fermer trial, has re-fused to return from New York to testify. O'Connor's testimony relates to a conversa-tion he had with Coughlin in which it is claimed the latter referred to Dr. Cronin as a Salesman Hatfield was called to the stand to day to identify a piece of carpet taken from the Carlson cottage.

Hatfield could not positively identify the carpet, and ex-Mayor Cregier, who had come into court in answer to a subpoena issued at the requestiof Judge Wing, was asked to take the stand. The ex-Mayor complied, with an ammesd expression covering his face, and answered the queries of the attorney for the defense in a bluff, hearty way. He could give no satisfaction as to the much-sought missing shorthand transcript of the interview between Chief of Police Hubbard and Coughlin before Coughlin's arrest.

Mr. Cregier said he believed the transcript had been put into his hands, but that he had not the remotest idea what had become of it, unless it had been burned with other papers. Attorney W. J. Hynes was called and said he could not produce the transcript and did not even remember having seen a copy.

GREAT HEALING POWERS. Death of an Aged Woman Accredited

With Performing Many Cures. Mrs. Margaret Laundmann, who died at he home of her son, 8107 Ivory avenue, yesterday afternoon, was over 90 years of age-and was in many respects one of the most and was in many respects one of the most remarkable women that has ever lived in Carondelet. She was said to possess a wonderful power of healing, to which many residents of the South End claim to owe their lives and her death will be much regretted by these.

Mrs. Laundman never accepted payment for treating patients, nor would she accept gifts from them, and yet among those who have her to thank for life and health are some of the wealthiest people of Carondelet. She could never explain her power, nor did she attempt to. She was a plain, untutored woman, with a kindly feeling for all who were unfortunate enough to suffer from human ills. At the same time she was a keen observer of human nature, and read the character of her patient at a glance. She did not pray in healing a patient as do the Unristian scientists, nor did she hold that it was necessary that the patient believe implicitly in her and in her power. Up to the time of ner death she was hale and hearty and carried herself straight as an arrow, though over 90 years old.

Frank D. Thompson, treising the forman draw in the private watchman and made arapid break for liberty, going west on Sheridan avenue.

Watchman Doll, who has a beat in the Third District.

At 5 o'clock this morning Private Watchman Boll was in the vicinity of Glasgow and Sheridan avenue, which is the saw, as he claims, a man stealing bread from a box in front of Frank Fisher's grocery and 1803 Glasgow avenue. Watchman follow under arrest.

Frank D. Thompson, treising the first such station the winknown broke away from the private watchman and arapid piece the private watchman draw his revolver and began firls. He sent several bullets into the air, he says, but the shots had not the desired effect of stopping the fugitive, turned his gun on the rapidly vanishing form and fired several additional shots. The fellow continued on the run, and was soon lost to sight. Altogether Doll fired five times, the says but the watchman followed in the watchman followed in the watchman followed in the says, but the shots had not the defined of such the man reported to the says of the scaped fugitive be came upon a trail of blood on the sidewalk and he reported that he had shot the man reported to the says of the provider and he and Mrs. Moulton went the depot and took a Wabash train the depot an corner rooms, second floor, Commercial And at Ferguson He Got $11 of Her Money Mrs. Belle Moulton, who resides at No. 7 outh Twenty-first street, reported to the colice this morning that she was victimized out of $11 yesterday by a shrewd ized out of $11 yesterday by a shrewd swindler. She placed an advertisement in a paper in quest of a position as a cook, and last Friday a man came to her house and engaged her to go California to cook in a hotel. Yesterday the man returned and he and Mrs. Moulton went to the depot and took a Wabash train as she supposed for California. When the train reached Ferguson, Mo., they got off and the sharper borrowed from her $11, telling her that he needed, $10, and had no bills of that denomination. After she gave him he money he failed to return. RATES TO THE FIGHT. Reduced From Kansas City, But Not From St. Louis—Railroad News.

On account of the Corbett-Mitchell fight, the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis wired Chairman Caldwell of the Western Passenger Association that it would on the 21st and 22d sell tickets from Kansas City to Jacksonville, Fla., good for thirty days, at $30 for the round trip. Chairman Caldwell Sas for the round trip. Chairman Caldwell notified competitive lines this morning and the Missouri Pacific and Wabash immediately announced their intention of meeting the rate from Kansas City. By the action of the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis, St. Louis derives no benefit from the reduction in rates, as the rate does not apply to St. Louis. By taking advantage of the winter tourist rates those St. Louisans who desire to witness the contest will have to pay $39 for the round trip. Assistant General Passenger Agent Payne of the Missouri Pacific is very anxious that a reduced rate be made from St. Louis and has sent a dozen telegrams to-day to bring about the desired result, but no definite action has been taken in the premises so far as the interests of St. Louis are concerned. If the rate is not made, those St. Louisans who anticipate attending the contest will either start from Kansas City or Chicago.

Freight Discrimination Suspected. A St. Louis commission man exhibited on Change to-day a Kansas City price current, the sales of wheat reported therein showing that Kansas City was paying 4 cents a that Kansas City was paying a cents a bushel more for wheat than could be obtained in St. Louis. That this should be the case. St. Louis so much nearer the seaboard and principal markets than is Kansas City, excited considerable comment among the local trade. The only explanation was that Kansas City must have a cut rate to the East that permits that market to pay more for grain than St. Louis can. It was urged in that connection that this would be a good chance for Mr. C. N. Osgood, Secretary of the Transportation Bureau, of the Merchants' Exchange, to distinguish himself and do good work for this market in having this freight discrimination—if it exists—against St. Louis put an end to.
